Dr. Hansen Recognized for His Commitment to Animal Health and Rabies Vaccination Programs in India and Thailand

MELVILLE, N.Y., Oct. 2, 2017 /PRNewswire/ -- Henry Schein, Inc. (Nasdaq: HSIC) announced today that Danish veterinarian Dr. Mogens Hansen has received the fifth annual Henry Schein Cares International Veterinary Community Service Award for his commitment to animal health and rabies vaccination programs in India and Thailand. The award recognizes veterinarians who perform exceptional acts of courage or demonstrate a commitment to serve the international community, and is an initiative of Henry Schein Cares, the company's global corporate social responsibility program.

Dr. Hansen was nominated for the award by the Danish Small Animal Veterinary Association (DSAVA) in recognition for his long-standing involvement in animal welfare in developing countries. He was presented with the award last week during the World Small Animal Veterinary Association (WSAVA) World Congress 2017 in Copenhagen, Denmark.

Dr. Hansen owns a small animal veterinary clinic in Seeland in Denmark. In 2006, he founded an organization called "Animal SOS"—now known as "Vets Beyond Borders Denmark." For the last 15 years, and most recently through Vets Beyond Borders Denmark, he has dedicated his spare time to coordinating and participating in more than 15 animal birth control and rabies vaccination programs for stray dogs in India and Thailand. These programs aim to neuter and vaccinate at least 70 percent of the street dog population in a particular area and to make sure that they then have a local caregiver who will feed them. During Dr. Hansen's time working with Vets Beyond Borders Denmark, he has supported local organizations and veterinarians around the world and has neutered and vaccinated more than 10,000 dogs and cats. Dr. Hansen has also supported a range of animal welfare projects in Africa, Asia, Central America, and Eastern Europe.

Dr. Hansen is a co-founder of and contributor to www.netdyredoktor.dk, a website he set up with Danish colleagues that has become the most popular online destination for animal health in the Nordic region.

"I am very happy that my colleagues at DSAVA and at Henry Schein appreciate our work with stray dogs all over the world," Dr. Hansen said. "It is of great importance, not only for the health and wellbeing of the dogs, but also for preventing rabies and other transmissible diseases in humans, especially children. The award will help Vets Beyond Borders Denmark to continue its work to the benefit of veterinary and animal welfare organizations globally."

Dr. Hansen was presented with the Henry Schein Cares International Veterinary Community Service Award by Mike Ellis, President, European Animal Health Group, Henry Schein, Inc. He was also presented with a check for $5,000, which he has asked to be donated to Vets Beyond Borders Denmark.

"Henry Schein feels deeply connected with the veterinary profession in supporting animal health, animal welfare, and public health," Mr. Ellis said. "The projects Dr. Hansen has initiated reflect these in a wonderful way, making him the perfect recipient of the Henry Schein Cares International Veterinary Community Service Award."

WSAVA World Congress is the flagship annual congress of the World Small Animal Veterinary Association, the leading association representing companion animal veterinarians worldwide. Its members include 105 veterinary associations and more than 200,000 individual veterinarians. One of its core activities is the development of WSAVA Global Guidelines in key areas of veterinary practice.
