- Introduces New Hygiene Products from ACCLEAN®
- Showcases Cleaning and Polishing Solutions
- Participates in Community Service Opportunity
- Recognizes ADHA's "Standout Seven" Award Winners

MELVILLE, N.Y. July 26, 2024 -- Henry Schein, Inc. (Nasdaq: HSIC), the world's largest provider of health care products for office-based dental and medical practitioners, today kicks off its presence at the American Dental Hygienists' Association (ADHA®) Annual Conference, the largest dental hygiene event, in New Orleans, LA. Through July 27, Henry Schein, a "Gold" level sponsor of the Conference, will feature a comprehensive display of products from its ACCLEAN® preventives portfolio at booth #313.

New products highlighted by Henry Schein will include ACCLEAN's new Disposable Prophy Angles, curettes, scalers, and diagnostic instruments. In addition, product education will be provided today at 10:05 a.m. by Stephanie Melton, RDH, Handpiece & Small Equipment Sales Specialist, Henry Schein. In Hall J, Booth #860, she will deliver a Product Presentation spotlighting ACCLEAN's prevention products and tools used to clean teeth during hygiene visits.

"Henry Schein appreciates our partnership with ADHA and looks forward to engaging with the dental hygiene community at this exciting time in health care to both showcase new solutions from our ACCLEAN portfolio and to learn more about how we can help support hygienists' unique interests and needs," said Chikako Amendola, Executive Director of Downstream Marketing, Henry Schein. "We value the important role that hygienists play within dental practices, and remain committed to delivering products, services, and solutions to help improve practice efficiency and care delivery for patients."

To kick off the Conference, Henry Schein's Chief Corporate Affairs Officer, David Kochman, presented awards to the following ADHA members in recognition of their exemplary dedication to patients and the hygiene community, innovative care approaches, and commitment to furthering oral health and overall health:

- Administrator Award: Cynthia L. Stull, RDH, DHSc, MDH
- Clinician Award: Christina Cook, RDH, ECP II
- Corporate Award: Dominique Szach, RDH, BS, MPH
- Educator Award: April Turner, RDH, MSDH, EdD
- Entrepreneur Award: Dana Yumul, RDHAP, RDA EF II
- Public Health Award: Courtney Justice, RDH, BSDH, FADHA
- Researcher Award: Jessica Suedbeck, RDH, MDSH

"ADHA is grateful for our long-standing partnership with Henry Schein. Over the years, Henry Schein has supported education and training for the dental hygiene community, and collaborated with ADHA to advance issues of importance for oral health," said Dr. Becky Smith, CRDH, EdD, FADHA, Immediate Past President of ADHA and Chair of the ADHA Institute for Oral Health Foundation. "With a shared value of community outreach, ADHA and Henry Schein look forward to providing a unique service opportunity at the Conference, enabling dental hygienists to participate in philanthropic activity during their attendance."

As part of its ongoing efforts to help health happen for local communities in need, Henry Schein is also a sponsor of the ADHA Institute for Oral Health Foundation's Community Service event taking place throughout the Conference. The program will enable attendees to assemble take-home bags of essential oral care products donated by Henry Schein, which include ACCLEAN toothbrushes, dental floss, soft bristle picks, and flossers. The kits will be donated to Clover New Orleans, and delivered to approximately 600 men, women, and children from underserved communities in the New Orleans area. This effort supports ADHA's Institute for Oral Health Foundation's mission of advancing the dental hygiene profession and expanding access to oral care through scholarships, research grants, and community service grants.
